APSU Writing Center Mission

The on-campus Writing Center at Austin Peay State University fosters a collaborative environment where consultants and students come together to work on writing—from brainstorming, to outlining, to drafting, and revision. Regardless of the assignment, Writing Center consultants are trained to work with students at all stages of the writing process, emphasizing individual learning and accountability, and assisting students as they develop as writers. This free resource is available to all APSU students.

Hello from Director Dr. Allie Johnston!

Hello, Govs!

As we look forward to the arrival of Fall, we want to invite you to utilize the Writing Center for your writing needs. With extracurriculars, class assignments, work, and more, we know your schedules are busy! That's why we're pleased to offer multiple ways to help you wherever you are in the writing process through in-person, video, or D2L appointments.

Our staff has been busy giving class visits to many groups on campus and raising awareness of our services. For our faculty members, we'd be happy to come speak to your class or share resources tailored to your writing assignment. Reach out through our contact info below.

As you'll see here in our newsletter, we have several upcoming events to make sure you're meeting all of your writing goals. Let us know if you would like a specific workshop tailored to your own class or writing needs. We look forward to reading your writing!
