

THE WRITING CENTER

Austin Peay State University

Hello from Director, Dr. Allie Johnston!

With the semester's end in sight, it's easy to become overwhelmed by all the projects, papers, and exams looming over your head. Here at the Writing Center, we want to offer you our support and services! We can work with your schedule by having three platforms available: in-person, zoom, and D2L submissions.

While writing can feel isolating, it doesn't have to be. Our center is peer-led, connecting you with fellow students from a variety of majors and backgrounds who have been trained in providing written feedback. We are hosting the Long Night Against Procrastination Event on April 27 to help you kick off finals week. For more information, contact us at writinglab@apsu.edu.

Faculty

Interested in collaborating with us for a workshop? We're happy to visit your class for a brief overview of our services or to present on a certain material, such as citation styles, grammar, or other writing-specific topics relevant to your assignments. We hope you'll send students our way and reach out to collaborate!

APSU Writing Center Mission

The on-campus Writing Center at Austin Peay State University fosters a collaborative environment where consultants and students come together to work on writing—from brainstorming, to outlining, to drafting, and to revising. Regardless of the assignment, Writing Center consultants are trained to work with students at all stages of the writing process. Consultants emphasize individual learning and accountability and assist students as they develop as writers. This free resource is available to all APSU students.
